

Steve, I wanted to drop you a line and let you know how the 327 Moly D grease was working. We put it on the inner seals of our rig BOP and it went out for a job. When it came back we no longer had to beat and pry the seals to get them back out.. They just pulled them right out. The grease is amazing. We also notice that the trucks that we did put the Armor Plate 480 -M in are running cooler. I just watched Dustin (One of our Mechanics) put some in an accumulator engine a little while ago. I am glad they are using it and will monitor how it works out. I cant wait to see how the fuel treatments will work on our trucks and hope to notice far less injector problems as well as increased fuel mileage. For the few things that I notice already , I am Primrose sold!!! Keep up making awesome products.

Thanks and have a great weekend , Kerry
